All the Ex-Ministers Are to Retain Office and M. Skouloudis Will Take the Portfolio of Foreign Affairs

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)
LONDON, Nov. 7.—The Athens correspondent of Reuters Telegrams today in a dispatch dated November 6, relative to the Greek cabinet crisis.

King Constantine has charged M. Skouloudis with the formation of a cabinet. The ex-ministers are to retain office. M. Skouloudis taking the portfolio of foreign affairs.

The M. Skouloudis mentioned in the Reuters dispatch probably is Stephanos Skouloudis, minister of foreign affairs in the cabinet of M. Hallis in 1907. On behalf of Greece he signed the peace treaty made in 1913 between the allied Balkan states and Turkey in the London peace conference. As minister of foreign affairs in the Hallis cabinet he was able greatly to mitigate the terms of peace which were imposed on Greece by the victorious Turks after the war of 1912.

Berlin Watches Developments
BERLIN, Nov. 6. (By Wireless to Tuckerton, N. J.)—The semi-official Overseas News Agency issued the following statement with respect to the Greek crisis.

Berlin awaits the further development of the Greek crisis. According to the news that has reached Berlin, the resignation of M. Zaimis (the Greek premier) was preceded by stormy debates in the Greek parliament. Several prominent party leaders attacked the Venizelos policy. Besides, it is known everywhere that the Greek general staff is fully certain of the hopelessness of the entente's Balkan enterprise.

"It is pointed out that the followers of Venizelos are divided on the question of participation in the Balkan war, since an important section of his party favors demobilization.

"In this connection it is interesting that Mr. Asquith, the British prime

AEROPLANE RISES FROM DECK OF MOVING CRUISER

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—When a navy aeroplane was shot into air yesterday at Pensacola from the deck of the cruiser North Carolina, while the ship was in motion, a new feat in aviation was accomplished and a device upon which many aircraft have been at work for three years proved a success. The result opens up new possibilities for navy aeroplanes, as the device permits them to be launched with the aid of a platform without obstructing gunfire.

The device consists of a track extending along the ship's after-deck, upon which is a car. An aeroplane lands on the device from the air and is secured to the car. On launching, the car is driven down the track until it has obtained high speed. Then it is brought to a sudden stop and the aeroplane slips from the moorings and soars into the air, having been shot over the cruiser's stern at fifty miles an hour.

SANTA ROSA, Cal., Nov. 6.—A series of fires believed to have been of incendiary origin occurred in Santa Rosa. ## Suffrage Leader Wants Hearing And Real One

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)
NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Woman Suffrage Association, today wrote to William F. McCombs, chairman of the democratic national committee, asking permission for representatives of the association to appear before the committee in Washington December 7, to discuss the possibility of giving woman suffrage "a real, and not a perfunctory hearing," at the democratic national convention next year.

She sent a similar letter to Charles D. Hillis, chairman of the republican national committee, asking permission for suffrage leaders to appear before that committee when it meets in Washington, December 14.

The annual convention of the National Association of Women Suffragists will be held in Washington, December 14 to 19, inclusive.

ALAMEDA CELEBRATES

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 6.—A special train brought 250 members of the Alameda County Manufacturers' Association to the Panama-California exposition today where in the Alameda building they celebrated Alameda's award of 56 medals for manufactured exhibits. Alameda county secured more awards for manufactured articles than any county exhibiting at the exposition. ### WARM IN KANSAS CITY

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)
KANSAS CITY, Nov. 6.—Records for Kansas City and vicinity for the month of November were broken today according to an announcement of the local weather bureau. This afternoon the thermometer registered 82 degrees.

of a decision of the state supreme court today tying up $504,999 of the city's funds.

The decision stamps certain of the city appropriations illegal because they were passed by the legislature after the regular appropriation bill, in addition to affecting the electrical, fire and police departments, the decision stops the paying of fees to real estate experts attached to the board of local improvements.

Mayor Thompson tonight admitted that the decision would seriously cripple the city and telegraphed Governor Dunne asking for a conference Monday. It is expected that a special session of the legislature will be asked to allow the city to levy a special tax to meet the deficiency.

The decision today followed one last night which tied up approximately $2,000,000 in state appropriations and which will necessitate an extraordinary session of the legislature. A. J. Russell, state treasurer, tonight said that the state treasury would be empty by April and Governor Dunne announced at Springfield today that there was no money available for the expenses of an extraordinary session of the legislature.

PARADERS WANT WINDY CITY LID LIFTED SUNDAY

United Societies for Local Self Government Will Parade in Protest Against Mayor Thompson's Closing of Saloons

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)
CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 6.—Officers of the United Societies for local self government have said that the "home rule and personal liberty" parade to be held tomorrow through the downtown streets of Chicago as a protest against Mayor William Hale Thompson's action in enforcing the state law closing saloons on Sunday, will be the largest demonstration of its kind ever held in this country. They have predicted that scores of thousands would be in line, including many trade unionists and numerous women. More than two thousand organizations of various kinds, representing twenty nationalities, were announced as having accepted invitations to participate.

No organization directly or indirectly representing the liquor business will be allowed in the column, sponsors for the demonstration announcing that brewers, saloonkeepers, distillers and bartenders who desire to march will do so as individuals or as members of other organizations. An effort was made to provide automobiles for all the women who desired to appear in the demonstration. Plans also were made for the construction of hundreds of floats.

Mayor Thompson declined invitation to review the procession, sending a letter in which he denounced the demonstration as showing disrespect for law and as an attempt to intimidate officials sworn to enforce the statutes. A further evidence of hostility to the parade on the part of the city administration is the refusal of the building inspector to permit erection of a reviewing stand on the La Salle street side of the city hall. W. R. Moorehouse, commissioner of public works in the mayor's cabinet, informed the United Societies officials that granting permit for a stand in front of the city hall would place the administration in the light of giving its sanction to the parade.

Invitations to review the marchers were also sent to Gov. Edward P. Dunne of Illinois and other state, county and city officials.

The United Societies for local self government, under whose auspices the parade will be held, consists of nine hundred and seventy three auxiliary organizations.

Mr. Landau, who is president of the United Societies, said today:

"The parade was planned as a mighty protest against the action of Mayor Thompson in closing the Chicago saloons Sunday. We want the officials and the citizens of the city, county and state and nation to know how a majority of the population feel on this question. There will be more than 100,000 patriotic American citizens in line, if the weather in fine there may be 200,000 marchers."

The police department issued a permit for the parade but was not asked to guard the line of march. Instead, this police work will be done by members of the German, Polish, and Bohemian Societies.

ENOUGH WATER TO COVER TWO STATES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—A summary of the work of the reclamation service to the beginning of the present fiscal year was given tonight, which shows that it has dug 9,592 miles of ditches and tunnels and built dams with a total volume of 12,200,000 cubic yards, including the two highest dams in the world. The water storage space obtained is 6,500,000 acre feet, the statement says, or enough to cover the entire states of New Jersey and Delaware in a depth of twelve inches.

SUNDAY CLOSING

LAW IS DECLARED UNCONSTITUTIONAL

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)
PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 6.—On the ground of unconstitutionality the Oregon Sunday observance law was held invalid today by Judge C. U. Gantenbein, in the state circuit court. Judge Gantenbein held that the law constituted religious legislation. The act was an ancient one, having been passed by the legislature in 1864. It provided that all places of business save drug stores, undertaking establishments and bakeries should remain closed on the Lord's day. This clause, Judge Gantenbein held, clearly defined the act as religious legislation.

KITCHENER OFF TO WAR RUMOR IS DENIED HE HAS QUIT HIS POST

Visit is in Discharge of Duty of Secretary of State for War. Duty He Does Not Intend to Abandon in Immediate Future

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)
LONDON, Nov. 6.—Lord Kitchener, at the request of his colleagues, has left England for a short visit to the eastern theater of war.

This announcement, made this evening after a cabinet council—an unusual meeting for Saturday—and a long audience which Premier Asquith had with the king, set at rest rumors current as to the war secretary's present intentions.

Later an additional official statement was issued, as follows:

"The statement that Earl Kitchener has resigned his post as secretary of state for war has already been authoritatively denied. It is equally untrue to suggest that Earl Kitchener has tendered his resignation, or that his visit to the king had any relation to that subject, or that his visit to the eastern theater of war in any way betokens that such resignation is contemplated."

"On the contrary, this visit is undertaken by him in discharge of his duty as secretary of state for war, which duty he has no intention of abandoning."

Almost simultaneously with the announcement of Lord Kitchener's proposed visit to the east, the authorities seized the printing plant of the London Globe, together with the issues of yesterday and today. This is the first action of the kind taken by the authorities since the outbreak of the war, against a daily paper in the United Kingdom. Some weekly papers, both in England and in Ireland, including the Labor Leader, were similarly treated some time ago, but the Labor Leader, after a secret trial of the case, was allowed to resume publication.

The Globe, while one of the oldest papers published in the country and long considered a staid and conservative organ, has lately lost that character and has been chiefly noted for its violent attacks on public men during the administration of the liberal government. It has been one of the government's bitterest opponents, and has, since the war, attacked virtually all of the members of the government.

On Friday it bitterly attacked Sir Frederick E. Smith, the new attorney general, whom it had heretofore supported and who the evening before had defended Premier Asquith against what he described as "discreditable personal attacks."

The Globe also published a report of the resignation of Lord Kitchener, this being based chiefly on the fact that the war secretary had been received in audience by the king Thursday night and a brief announcement in a morning paper that a change of the utmost importance was about to take place in the conduct of the war.

The Globe is edited by Charles Palmer, for many years its parliamentary reporter. The police officials who seized the Globe newspaper made a thorough job of it. They cut off the electric power, removed the stereotype plates, withdrew the vital parts of the linotype machines and presses and seized all

OIL LAND CASE EVIDENCE CONCLUDED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—Hearing evidence in the oil land case of the U. S. vs. George B. McCutcheon and other individuals and oil companies was concluded here today before Judge Bledsoe in the United States district court. Arguments will be heard in Los Angeles late in December. The principal witness today was E. B. Latham, who was called by the government to refute testimony given by the defense that the recent discovery of gas in the Maricopa oil fields indicated oil.

THINK CRUISER BRINGING ALL FROM WRECK

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 6.—Whether the forty-seven persons who constituted the company aboard the steamer Fort Bragg, wrecked early yesterday near San Jose del Cabo, on the Gulf of Lower California, were being brought to this port by the United States cruiser San Diego, or if the cruiser still remained at the scene of the accident, was unknown early tonight as no late dispatches had been received here since early in the day.

The radiograms received in the morning, however, reported that there had been no fatalities and that all the survivors, twenty-four of whom were passengers, had been given comfortable quarters aboard the San Diego, and that they would be brought here. The dispatches also stated that there was no American aboard the Fort Bragg when she crashed onto the rock pinnacles which penetrated her hull. It was thought early today that the vessel would be a total wreck, although the sea had quieted and she still remained in the rock cradle into which she slid yesterday morning.

Copies of yesterday's and today's papers and even the manuscript which had been prepared.

The announcement that Lord Kitchener is to visit the east did not come as a surprise. It was generally believed when it became known he was about to undertake a mission, that the Balkans would be his destination, for there is no general in the British empire better equipped with a knowledge of near eastern affairs, political and military, than he.

It is thought that his activities will not be confined to this theater of war, however, but that he will visit Egypt to inspect the defenses of the Suez canal against a possible German or Turkish attack; Mesopotamia, where the British expedition is doing bigger things than was expected of it; and is now nearing Bagdad, and the Dardanelles where steps are being

CZAR NICHOLAS LEAVES PALACE TO WATCH WAR

In City of 40,000, is Stationed With His Staff Which Directs Defense of Russia Against Her Enemies

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)

PETROGRAD, Via London, Nov. 6.—In a white, two-story building in a city of perhaps 40,000 but resembling more nearly an overgrown village, is stationed the staff which directs the defense of Russia against her enemies. The director in chief is Emperor Nicholas and to this forum place from the imperial palace to Tsarskoe Selo, he for the time being has banished himself, in order that he may live in daily touch with the affairs of his armies in the field, advise with the officers and supervise the conduct of the war.

Although many hours journey by train from the nearest little line, the emperor and his staff are in almost instant communication by telegraph with all points along the thousand mile front. It is in this building that the daily official communications to the world are written.

The chief of staff, General Michael Alexieff, is a modest man about 60 years old.

A casual visitor to the town in question finds little to induce him to prolong his stay. The hotels, of which there are several—the best leaving much to be desired—are pre-empted by the military. The town is crowded with strangers who have come from the territory overrun by the Germans.

It is only at night that the place wakes up. Until nearly midday the many little shops that crowd each other along the two main thoroughfares keep their doors locked and their windows shuttered. Antiquated "groceries" as the public racks are called, shamble out of the way of screeching high-powered automobiles carrying officers, the cars appearing incongruous in the century-old setting of cobbled streets and high windowed and dingy stores.

Around the white staff building there is a solemn stillness. Sentries guard the entrances and open space in front, and none without official business may pass.

The distress of the people growing out of the war is apparent on every hand. The floors of the railway waiting room at night serve as a sleeping place for scores of weary wayfarers. Old men, women and children lie closely huddled, leaving a narrow aisle for the stream of traffic to and from the trains.

Further up the line the lights from camp fires at night disclose hundreds of people living in wretchedness in curd board shelters, which only partly protect them from the freezing winds.

taken to push the operations to a conclusion.

Besides this, it is understood that his duties will include efforts to coordinate the work of the general staffs of the allied armies.

It is considered impossible for Premier Asquith to hold both offices of prime minister and minister of war for any length of time. The Earl of Derby, director of recruiting has been mentioned as a possible incumbent during Earl Kitchener's absence.

ASKED GOVERNMENT AGENT PRINT COUNTERFEIT MONEY

(Special to The Republican.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—Jacinto Herrera Luengo and Lorenzo Rovera Arizau were held to answer today to the federal grand jury by Commissioner Francis Krull, on a charge of having counterfeit material in their possession. J. M. Ariola, special agent of the consular general of Mexico, testified that the two men had stolen original plates from which Carranza money had been printed, in November 1914 when Zapata captured the City of Mexico. By means of alleged Spanish passports, Ariola testified, the defendants smuggled the plates or lithographing stones, across the United States border.

In his attempts to secure evidence against the men, Ariola conducted a printing establishment, where he said, Luengo and Arizau arranged to have $5,000,000 in counterfeit Mexican notes printed. The prisoners, it was stated, did not know that Ariola was a Mexican government agent, until he testified against them on the stand.
